A Letter to Dohm. Here is a copy of a letter addressed Dohm, which the detectives are hold to Dohm, which the detectives are holding as evidence:

"I am very much surprised at you. You promised to come to see me and then disappointed me. I suppose you are too busy.

"I hope you are not angry with me. Itave I done anything to displease you? If so, I am very sorry. Do come to see me.

"I have moved and have a very pretty apartment. A friend of mine. went to Europe and I have sublet it until October 1. I am living here alone and have no one with me just at present. I seel very lonesome at times. I would like to have you come up some evening for a short time after work and cheer me up a bit. Trusting to see you very soon, I remain, yours sincerely.

The full name of the writer of the letter is withheld by the police. The address she gave is that of a fashionable anartment house in West Ninety-seventh street.

address she gave is that of a fashionable apartment house in West Ninety-seventh street.

At the West Ninety-seventh street address the elevator man said this afternoon that a woman giving the name of Daisy Marlowe rented an aartment there on May 22, stating that she would remain until October I. He was shown a photograph of Dobm and said that a man who looked like the Bouman emberzier called at the flat.

There was another caller, known as "Mr. Miller." who spent considerable time in the flat. Both Miss Marlowe and "Mr. Miller" disappeared in a hurry last Priday. The next day a maid called and took away Miss Marlowe's helongings. She falled to leave her address.

Dohm through his counsel, Lawyer O'Sullivan, walved examination in the police court. Maristrate Breen held him for the Grand Jury in 510,000 bail on a charge of grand larceny, and he was sent to the Tombs. His wife was not in court.

the price of Essie Sugar Corn, and we have been busy handing it over the counters to delighted housewives ever since. The stock is nearly exhausted—all but a few thousand cases -and we have concluded to let the tail go with the hide So we continue the price, which is below the packer's cost-and the lowest ever offered—until next Wednesday night. You get more than all the profit, and it is your fault, not ours, if you don't lay in a small stock. Positively there is no more to be had until next season's crop, which looks a long way off-too far ahead to tell what its quality or price may be. You are sure that this corn is the most delicious to be had; you can never buy it cheaper—and a bird in the hand is worth several million in the bush.
